

Financial conditions

The benefit is equal to the national standard cost of studies when the study cost established by a higher education institution exceeds the national standard study cost, or equal to the study cost payable for the studies, when the study cost established by a higher education institution does not exceed the national standard study cost. When the study cost established by a higher education institution exceeds the national standard study cost, the candidate having received a benefit has the duty to cover the difference between the study cost established by a higher education institution and the national standard study cost.

Scholarships are paid throughout the study period (including periods of holidays), by transferring money on a monthly basis to a student's personal account held in a Lithuanian bank (transfers to student's personal bank account are made by the Lithuanian higher education institution, in which the student is enrolled).

The total amount of the benefit will be transferred to the bank account of Lithuanian higher education institution, in which the student in question studies, twice per year (by 1 November for the autumn semester and by 1 April for the spring semester).

The financial support (a scholarship and/or benefit that covers the study cost) is terminated or reduced if a foreign student:

1. Stops his/her full-time Master degree or Integrated studies in a chosen Lithuanian higher education institution in Lithuania;
2. Does not start his/her full-time Master degree or Integrated studies in time;
3. Finishes his/her full-time Master degree or Integrated studies more than 6 days earlier than it was stated in the official document issued by a Lithuanian higher education institution;
4. Has academic debts or takes an academic leave.
